Information circular*

To: Members of the staff

From: The Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management

Subject: 2005 competitive examinations for Russian-language verbatim reporters, editors and translators/précis-writers

1. The purpose of the present information circular is to invite applications from staff members of the Secretariat at the P-3 level and below who wish to take, in accordance with the provisions of ST/AI/1998/7 of 23 March 1998, one or more of the following competitive examinations which will take place in 2005:

(a) The competitive examination for Russian-language verbatim reporters;

(b) The competitive examination for Russian-language editors;

(c) The competitive examination for Russian-language translators/précis-writers.

2. The competitive examinations for Russian-language verbatim reporters, editors and translators/précis-writers will be held on 29, 30, and 31 August 2005 in New York, Geneva, Moscow and other locations according to the number and location of qualified candidates convoked for the examinations. The purpose of these examinations is to establish the rosters from which present and future vacancies for Russian-language verbatim reporters, editors and translators/précis-writers will be filled. When vacancies occur in a service, successful candidates will be recruited from the roster for that service, subject to the requirements of the service in terms of expertise and language combinations.

3. The examinations are open to staff members of the United Nations at the P-3 level and below who meet the eligibility requirements, as well as qualified external candidates. Staff members from subsidiary organs of the United Nations and staff members whose service is limited to a particular organ, fund or programme of the United Nations or special missions are considered external candidates for the purpose of these examinations. Such candidates, if successful, will be offered a new appointment with the United Nations subject to normal United Nations recruitment procedures and standards. Staff members who are successful in an examination and are selected for inclusion in the respective roster will be assigned to fill vacancies for Russian-language posts as they occur in the language services/sections/units in New York, Vienna, Geneva, Nairobi or Bangkok. Assignments are subject to rotation and successful candidates may thereafter be called upon to serve at other duty stations in Africa, Asia, Europe, or at Headquarters, according to the needs of the Organization. Successful candidates are expected to serve a minimum of five years in language posts. The assignment of staff members of the United Nations who are successful in the examination and are selected to fill vacancies will be subject to the conditions set out in paragraphs 14 to 16 below.

4. Staff members of the Secretariat applying for the examination must:

(a) Have Russian as their main language;[1]

(b) Have a perfect command of Russian and an excellent knowledge of English and at least one of the other official languages of the United Nations (Arabic, Chinese, French or Spanish). The Board of Examiners, appointed by the Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management, requires that candidates' claims to knowledge of official languages be supported by relevant documentation in their official status files. Staff members who have been enrolled in a United Nations language course in any of the languages claimed must have passed the United Nations language proficiency examination in that language. Candidates who have not attended the United Nations language courses in the languages claimed must substantiate their claims to knowledge of those languages. For that purpose, staff members should give a clear explanation on the P.11 or Personal History Profile form (PHP) of how they acquired their knowledge of the languages claimed;

(c) Hold a degree or an equivalent qualification from a university or institution of equivalent status at which Russian is the language of instruction or hold a university degree from a school of translation at which Russian is the language of instruction.

5. In order to meet the Organization's need to recruit staff for language posts who will serve for a reasonable period of time before reaching retirement age, staff members who do not serve on 100-series appointments and who are over the age of 56 by the deadline for submission of applications, 20 June 2005, will not be eligible to sit for the examination. There is no age limit for full-time staff members serving on 100-series appointments.

6. The requirement for a university degree or its equivalent from a university or institution of equivalent status mentioned in paragraph 4 (c) may be waived for staff members who, in the judgement of the Board of Examiners, have adequate post-secondary education qualifications from a university or institution of equivalent status and adequate secondary education qualifications from an establishment at which the principal language of instruction is Russian, in addition to five years of continuous service with the Secretariat by 31 December 1989.

7. All applicants should submit with their applications a one-page essay in Russian, explaining the reasons for their interest in taking this examination. All applications will be reviewed by the Board of Examiners. In instances where a large number of applications are received, the Board reserves the right to admit to the examination only the most qualified candidates based on a review of the qualifications that are over and above the minimum criteria set out in paragraph 4. Convoked candidates may be required to submit evidence of degrees, knowledge of languages and/or relevant experience prior to convocation. All applicants will be notified of the Board's decision in respect of their application. The Board's decisions are final.

8. The written examination for verbatim reporters, to be held on 29 August 2005, will consist of:

(a) Translation of an English text into Russian (one hour and a half, morning of 29 August 2005). It should be noted that this paper is eliminatory. Only candidates who are successful in this paper will have their other papers marked;

(b) Bringing the Russian version of a text into line with the original of a text in any of the official United Nations languages other than Russian and English (one hour, morning of 29 August 2005);

(c) Editing of and making all necessary logical and stylistic corrections to an original Russian text (one hour and a half, afternoon of 29 August 2005);

(d) Bringing the Russian version of a text into line with the original English (two hours, afternoon of 29 August 2005).

9. The written examination for editors, to be held on 30 August 2005, will consist of:

(a) Editing of a general text in Russian (two hours, morning of 30 August 2005). It should be noted that this paper is eliminatory. Only candidates who are successful in this paper will have their other papers marked;

(b) Editing of a text in Russian to bring into line with a text edited in English (one hour and a half, morning of 30 August 2005);

(c) Translation into Russian of one text chosen by the candidate from a total of four texts, one in each of the official United Nations languages other than Russian and English (one hour and a half, afternoon of 30 August 2005);

(d) Summary of a Russian text (one hour and a half, afternoon of 30 August 2005).

10. The written examination for translators/précis-writers, to be held on 31 August 2005, will consist of:

(a) Translation into Russian of a general text in English (two and a half hours, morning of 31 August 2005). It should be noted that this paper is eliminatory. Only candidates who are successful in this paper will have their other papers marked;

(b) Translation into Russian of one text chosen by the candidates from a total of four texts, one in each of the other official languages of the United Nations (Arabic, Chinese, French or Spanish) other than English and Russian (one and a half hours, morning of 31 August 2005);

(c) Preparation of a summary in Russian of a text in English (one and a half hours, afternoon of 31 August 2005);

(d) Translation into Russian of one English text, to be chosen by the candidate from a total of three specialized texts (economic, legal, scientific/ technical) (one and a half hours, afternoon of 31 August 2005).

11. The use of a dictionary or any other reference material will not be permitted during the examinations. Cell phones and other electronic devices will not be permitted either in the examination room.

12. On the basis of the results of each written examination, the Board of Examiners will invite selected candidates to an interview. The Board will interview each candidate to assess general knowledge, professional experience, knowledge of the United Nations and of current events, personality, willingness to serve at any duty station, adaptability to the prevailing working conditions at the United Nations and, in particular, ability to work as a member of a team. Candidates may also be required to take some additional short tests at the time of the interview. The interview is an integral part of the examination. Therefore, candidates who are invited for an interview should not assume that they will automatically be offered an assignment.

13. On the basis of the overall results of each examination, the Board will recommend to the Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management the names of candidates who qualify for inclusion in the respective roster. All candidates admitted to each examination will be informed in writing of the Board's final recommendation in respect of their candidature. The Board's recommendations are not subject to appeal. The Board does not release individual scores/results. When vacancies occur in a service, successful candidates will be recruited from the respective roster, subject to the requirements of the service in terms of expertise and language combinations.

14. Staff members selected to fill vacancies will be assigned as Russian-language verbatim reporters, editors and translators/précis-writers for a trial period of two years. Staff members below the P-2 level or who are in the General Service category will receive a special post allowance to the P-2 level. Staff members at the P-2 and P-3 levels will be assigned at their respective levels. During the trial period, following on-the-job training if necessary, successful candidates who are recruited as translators/précis-writers should be prepared to use a computer workstation, including for keyboarding and digital dictating their translations. In order to be confirmed as editors, successful candidates will need to have word-processing skills or to acquire them following on-the-job training during the two-year trial period. In order to be confirmed as verbatim reporters, successful candidates will need to have computer and word-processing skills and be fast, accurate typists.

15. Successful candidates in translation assigned directly to duty stations away from Headquarters will normally be required to spend the first six months of their trial period in the corresponding service at Headquarters.

16. Staff members with a special post allowance to the P-2 level and those already at the P-2 level who complete the trial period successfully and are recommended by the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management and the Office of Human Resources Management may be promoted to the P-3 level. Staff members already at the P-3 level who complete the trial period successfully will be confirmed in their functions at the P-3 level. Staff members on fixed-term appointment will be eligible to be considered for permanent appointment subject to the requirements of the staff rules in force. Staff members who do not complete the trial period successfully will be reassigned to posts at their previous levels and the special post allowance, if any, will be discontinued.

17. In accordance with the needs of the service/sections, successful candidates may be called upon to work outside normal working hours, including weekends and holidays.

18. Staff members applying for the examination should complete the attached form and submit it together with a copy of the P.11 or PHP form and the essay mentioned in paragraph 7, no later than 20 June 2005, to:
